Rep. Hubrecht,

Thanks for sending this proposed committee amendment to HCS HB 174. However, House Research got some of the changes right that were sent down to them, but not all of them.

It is very important to Sam Licklider and the Missouri Realtors that their members not be perceived as "participating in abortion" if they inadvertently or unknowingly sell, rent or lease property to an abortion provider. Sam and I agreed that his members could be targeted with a big scarlet "A" – so to speak – by some activists, if months or even years after they sold or leased property, the property was used for abortion purposes.

I promised Sam that we would take care of this, while at the same time protecting the conscience rights of real estate agents, property owners, etc., who do not want to be forced by local governments to be involved with the abortion industry. Sam very much understood and appreciated our concerns after I showed him a copy of Board Bill 203.

Thus, the amendment places that restriction on political subdivisions vis-à-vis realtors, etc., into a new subsection 5 wholly separate from the definition of "participate in abortion." The amendment also must take out any references to realtors, etc., by removing paragraph (c) of subdivision (2) of subsection 9 (lines 12 through 15 on page 4) – which is part of the definition of "participate in abortion."

In addition, the amendment (as you sent it down the Hose Research) also makes a slight change the definition of "alternatives to abortion agency" by making sure that a pro-life agency that receives reimbursement or funding one year from the state under the Alternatives to Abortion (A2A) program, does not lose that status because some future governor decides not to fund it (like Govs. Carnahan, Holden & Nixon attempted in the past). Although Gov. Greitens has included $6.46 million for A2A in his FY2018 budget, we have to look at the effects of this legislation beyond his tenure as governor.

Print Page 2 of 220

Is there any particular reason why House Research did an amendment as opposed to a new substitute that incorporated all these changes? As long as the substitute is distributed to committee members by Monday (today), they can still vote on it on Tuesday evening, when the executive session is scheduled. It would seem to be less messy, but regardless, either an amendment (which if adopted, would be incorporated into a new substitute) or a new substitute does get us to the same place that we want to go.

I've attached proposed changes to the amendment that you got back from House Research that would now reflect exactly want you sent down to them on Friday. Those changes are in red. I'm also attaching again the proposed new HCS that you sent down to House research on Friday.

Thanks!

Sam

JEFFERSON CITY • Gov. Eric Greitens took to Facebook this weekend to slam St. Louis aldermen for a bill adding reproductive health decisions to the city's anti-discrimination ordinance.

The bill, which took effect last week, bans employers and landlords from discriminating against women who have had an abortion, use contraceptives or are pregnant.

"This bill attacks clinics that help women," Greitens wrote.

The change has been met with opposition from nonprofit "alternative to abortion agencies," sometimes called "pregnancy resource centers," which counsel women against having abortions. Greitens allocated $6 million in funding for such clinics in his 2018 budget proposal.

"Now St. Louis liberals and the National Abortion Rights Action League are trying to undermine and destroy them," Greitens accused.

Bills moving through the GOP-led Legislature would effectively block the changes to the ordinance on the grounds that it inhibits the free speech and religious rights of alternative-to-abortion agencies.

Aldermen have already raised concerns that signing such measures into law would undermine a city's local control.

Greitens said he would team up with lawmakers but did not mention that legislation specifically, and a spokesman for the governor could not be reached for comment.

"We're working with legislators, faith leaders, women's advocates, and anyone who values life to fight back against this Abortion Sanctuary City movement," Greitens wrote.
